Leaving It to Mr. Ferguson.

The Outario election made little change in the party standing. The Ferguson Government is returned with a majority as large as the total number of its opponents of all groups.

The Outario Temperance Act accordingly is Gestimed for the waste basket, to be followed by a system of Government sale more or less similar to that operated in this province. Within a few months, therefore, every province from British Columbia to Quebee will have adopted the public authority.

The administrative record of the Government does not seem to have been challenged in any serious way. If it even reserved any considerable amount of attention the newspapers of the province have failed to show that. The inference is that there was little fault to be found with the general management of the province's business.

The alternative to re-electing the Ferguson Government, was to empower the Liberal leader to frame up some sort of a coalition cabinet, depending upon the support of two or more group. Coalitions have lost any charm they ever had for the Canadian work. Familiarity with them has bred in the public mind a feeling very much removed from admiration. Mr. Ferguson appeared to the Outario's one chance for stable Government.

FOR almost three hundred years lumbering has been a factor of growing importance in Canadian commerce.

From the efforts of early French From the efforts of early French settlers, whose first exports were timbers, masts and spars for the French Navy, there has sprung an industry producing annually about $125,000,000. Today, the forests of Canada are one of the world's greatest sources of timber supply. There is an estimated stand of merchantable Canadian timber of 250 billion cubic feet.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce The Canadian Bank of Commerce serves in the development of lumbering in all its phases. As new timber areas have been opened it has established branches, to serve the logger, the saw mill operator and the retail distributor.

At present the Bank is represented in practically every important lum-bering district in Canada. Over 100 branches serve this great Canadian industry.
